Participate in the Global Peace Movement

Participants in Theresa Joseph and Linda Fallo-Mitchell's Global Peace Movement events, including the Meditation for World Peace and Channeled Grace Healing Circles, are not limited to Rye residents. Each time they have offered their Channeled Grace Healing Circles, there have been more and more attendees who are newcomers. People are hearing about the circles and coming from all over the area.

The Meditation for World Peace, which the women also lead at Wainwright House, can now be accessed on line, through Joseph's website, www.GlobalPeaceMovementNow.com. This virtual meditation has been practiced all over the world, including in South Africa, Australia, China, and Vietnam.

This global participation is the purpose of their work. Joseph and Fallo-Mitchell, Reiki masters, each has a private practice, as well as their joint work at Wainwright House, and now they are writing a book. The book is about God's everyday presence in our lives. Joseph gets all of the ideas for her work through direct revelation from God. "I go into meditation and God tells me what to do, and then there are times when I don't need to go into meditation and I'm still being guided by Him. The point of the book, explained Fallo-Mitchell, is that "anybody can do that. God speaks to us all, all the time, and it's just about us listening."

Theresa Joseph does not think that she is special. She wants everyone to communicate with God the way she does. Which is why it is so exciting that people from around the world are meditating. The two women believe that we can't create world peace unless we first create peace within ourselves.

Theresa and Linda will be leading a workshop on achieving inner peace called "Birthing a New World: Creating a Peaceful Life and a Peaceful World" at Wainwright House on Saturday, April 28 and Sunday, April 29. Participants will learn "that the power of peace lies within. It is a state of being that already exists. It is up to us to see it and project it out into or onto the world."

Joseph received a message from God, saying that they needed to extend their work to include more people. They have done that through their Channeled Grace Healing Circles at Wainwright House. The Healing Circles make their work more accessible by bringing groups of people together, unlike in their private practices, where they see one person at a time. "These Circles make our healing work much more affordable and much more accessible, and they're equally powerful," said Joseph. Channeled Grace Healing Circles continue on April 16 and 30 at 11:00 am.

Wainwright House has provided a peaceful and sacred space for the Circles, as well as the Meditations for World Peace and other work to take place. "Our work continues to evolve, so we never know what God is going to guide us to do next," Joseph said, "but we will still be working with Wainwright House."
